WELCOME TO THE JULY 2020
NEWSLETTER

We'll Meet Again?

Dear Fellow Tinmoggers,

Alas there will be a much-reduced Newsletter this month as there is very little to report. Marjorie and I did take our Morgan for a run to Bedruthan Steps as we had the repaired speedo, no, not my swimming trunks, refitted to our car. The fault was the appearance and disappearance of the mileage reading, very annoying, but all's well now. The weather was excellent – sun, blue skies, but there was a slight mist over the shore. The car park wasn't exactly crowded and the café was closed – so no chance of an ice cream!

The Steps, in slight mist

Blue skies, blue Mog

We have had a thought that perhaps, with the lessening of restrictions, we may be able to meet at a pub that has a garden. Of course, if the weather was not predicted to be at least reasonable, it would have to be called off at 24 hours' notice. The date could be the second Thursday in September when the majority of the invading Covid carrying visitors have returned "up north". We will phone possible venues to see what outside seating they would have available, though I doubt they would reserve tables when numbers are not known. We had thought perhaps the Crown at Lanlivery might be a good bet, but please let me know of other pubs that have good outside seating and a large car park that would be suitable. This first outing would be a very casual event.

The proposed Christmas lunch – the hotel cancelled our booking as we had not paid a £10 per person deposit by the 1st June. We were not prepared to pay this deposit as we had no idea how many members would want to attend, and six months ahead is rather too long to cast in stone a lunch date during the Christmas period. At the 1st June we were in lockdown, and we are still not sure as to when the restrictions will be fully cleared. If we are unable to have the lunch in December, perhaps we can roll it over into the New Year.

Regarding the Autumn Tour, we know that the Hotel has now reopened, and we will contact them at the beginning of September when we should know more about the relaxation of Covid restrictions.

In the meantime, keep safe and hope you have some happy Morgan motoring.

PLANNED TINMOG EVENTS

Obviously, these have to be subject to Developments but

October 20th to 24th - Autumn Tour to the Welsh borders organised by Paul and Marjorie – The plan is that the first night will be at The Beaufort Hotel, Raglan, followed by three nights at The Wild Pheasant Hotel, Llangollen. There will be a lunch venue en route to Raglan on the 20th where you may join the Tour, or you may go direct to The Beaufort Hotel. The following day will be a scenic run through the Welsh borders to Llangollen, with hopefully interesting coffee and lunch stops. One of the two days at Llangollen will be an optional run into Wales, the other free to explore the area. Please contact Paul and Marjorie if you wish to be added to the party. We will be checking with the hotel in September when more should be known about the relaxation of Covid restrictions.

Saturday December 5th – Tinmog Christmas Lunch at the Carlyon Bay Hotel

As above, the hotel has cancelled our booking so things are uncertain as to the if, where and when.
